

Liz D. Rosenzweig: Writing Sample

As part of the video pay-per-view streaming web site, indieex.com, I contributed to a blog called 'Lizzards Lounge'. This is one of my submissions.

Neutrinos:

by Liz DeStefanis Rosenzweig

The ghostly physics particle, the Neutrino, is able to operate and thrive by moving fiercely to their own beat, and unique universal laws, much like Possessed by Paul James.

Similar to Neutrinos, the independent artist, needs to defy barriers and move quickly, and deftly, in order to be able to respond to opportunities, adapt, and evade destruction. Both Neutrinos and independent artists need to operate by a separate set of universal laws that inspire survival, longevity and the ability to withstand such a hostile and obstacle-filled world.

No barrier is impenetrable by a Neutrino and they have a way of avoiding the interaction of solid matter, just like independent artists are able to penetrate confines of the social and business sort – they just push through the physical and metaphysical, in order to express themselves.